How to Taste Wine

The Harvest Fair is a great opportunity to get acquainted with Sonoma County Wines. When you taste wines, your goal should be not only to find some you like, but also to discover their individual attributes. The wine in your glass and the winery representative pouring the wine form a team – both can offer information to increase your knowledge and enjoyment of wine.

Wine tasting is easy. If you can tell the difference between lamb and veal (or green beans and spinach), you can distinguish one wine from another. Your reactions to flavors are personal and based on your own physiology and experience.

Swirl – You will be poured a small tasting portion of wine – about one ounce. Take a look at it. The color should be clear and pleasing. Hold your glass by the stem or base and rotate its contents. Swirling the wine mixes it gently with air and releases its aromas. The tall, narrow shape of the glass prevents them from quickly dispersing.

Sniff – First impressions are very important when you are introduced to a wine. Gather your concentration, then bring the glass up to your nose and inhale. If you smell nothing, the wine is very subtle (or very bland) or you are distracted. Try again. Sniff at the glass a few more times again in order to identify more specific aromas of flowers, fruits, or vegetables.

Sip – The taste should reinforce and expand your perception of the aromas and add new information about the wine's texture and balance. Swish the wine around your mouth so that all parts of your mouth and tongue can be involved.

Spit – This a very important technique for anyone desiring to taste more than a few wines and stay alert. Very little can be learned from actually swallowing the wine. If, when you spit, you want to focus on the final flourish of acid or tannin, try closing your throat a few times or swallowing after spitting. Now take a moment to decide how you feel about the wine. Is it well made but not your preferred style? Or is it flavorful, rich and just the right thing for barbecued ribs?

Now you can try another wine. And by the end of the Sonoma County Harvest Fair, you will have made several new friends!

TIPS FOR SERVING WINE
(and other beverages containing alcohol)
at Home

Entertaining with style means providing memorable offerings in food, drink, and fun – and making sure your guests get home safely. A wise host will use these simple strategies to insure the enjoyment of every guest.

- ◆ Always serve food whenever you serve wine or other alcoholic beverages. Food slows the rate at which the body absorbs alcohol. High protein foods like meats or cheeses are the best choice because they stay in the stomach longer than other foods.
- ◆ Be sure to provide plenty of non-alcoholic options for your guests. The young, the calorie-conscious, and those who choose not to imbibe will appreciate an assortment of juices, waters, de-alcoholized wines or other beverages. A 750 ml. Or standard size wine bottle contains four 5 oz. Servings of wine. A “standard drink” is 4-5 oz. Of wine, 12 oz. Of beer, or 1 ¼ oz. of distilled spirits. You can help your guests monitor consumption by pouring standard drinks.
- ◆ Plan to stop serving wine at least an hour before your party is over. During this time, bring out more food and non-alcoholic beverages. Coffee won't sober anybody up – only time can do that – but you can give your guests some time to burn off the alcohol they have consumed before they start the drive home.
- ◆ Don't let your guests drive if they've had too much to drink. If one of your guests is unsafe to drive, roll out a sleeping bag, call a cab, or make sure another guest drives him home. Let your guests know you care about them by being a responsible host.
